Sedation Consent

We are happy to provide the utmost in comfortable dental experiences using a variety of styles of sedation. We are aware of the concerns most people have about dental care. We believe that a comfortable experience will promote a long-term commitment to continuing dental care and improve our patient's quality of life. The types of sedation we use are safe in the hands of a trained and experienced dentist with the proper certifications. I have been performing deep sedation on my patients since 1986 with great success on thousands of grateful patients. There are a few things that you should be aware of prior to your appointment:

1. You should eat nothing prior to your appointment and only drink a small amount of clear liquid if anything. Wear loose fitting, casual clothing.
2. You will be required to have transportation arrangements made for you.
you are sedated
3. If there are other procedures required while we need to know how to proceed now.
 - A. Do nothing more than is planned
 - B. Fix the problem
 - C. Ask for approval with designated person who is available at that time.
4. Bring all current prescriptions with you. Diabetics bring monitoring materials.
5. Arrive 1 hour early if you are to have sleep sedation for monitoring.
6. There is no way to predict 100% how much medication you will need to be comfortable or how the medication will effect you individually. The medication is safe and we have reversing medications for many of the drugs we use. You may remain drowsy and forget things long after your appointment so we advise that you not work or make any important decisions after your sedation appointment.
7. Should one type of sedation not work for you as well as you would like there are other methods that we can use to increase your comfort.
8. Often we schedule long blocks of time for sedation dentistry. During your appointment you will be given the opportunity to have comfort breaks and a snack or drink. If there are special concerns we need to be aware prior to the appointment so we may assist you.
